

Deleted Scene: Genn gets caught

On the last day of school before Christmas Beth saw Genn in school. She had just come out of art class, her last class for the half day. The balding vice principal had a hand on Genn's upper arm, and she was pulling away from him with unfocused eyes. He had his clunky walkie-talkie out. "Leggoa me," Genn said over and over, her head wagging so that her hair fell in her face.

But a stream of students flowed between Beth and where the vice-principal stood holding Genn, and Beth was eventually swept away through she tried to keep sight of Genn. Something was wrong, and Beth didn't know what or how serious.